Karamoja is one of the poorest regions of Uganda. Below average rainfall in 2022 has badly affected crops, leaving households without enough food to eat. This follows three consecutive years of poor harvests. Almost 100,000 children and mothers are suffering from acute malnutrition. People are resorting to negative coping strategies, including eating only one meal a day and selling assets. Conflict and insecurity is making the situation worse. Integral Members and their Partners have ongoing work in the worst affected districts.

Our response

- Acute food shortages
- Drought
- Crop failure
- Insecurity

40% of the population are going hungry - more than half a million people

Almost 100,000 children suffering from acute malnutrition

For more information visit: www.integralalliance.org

Source: FEWSNET and Integral Members